Disaster Preparedness and University State of Emergency, 6.17

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, graduate associates, and student employees, excluding Health System employees
(Staff who are members of a bargaining unit and are covered by a collective bargaining agreement are included in this policy. However, when this policy conflicts with specific terms in the applicable collective bargaining agreement, the language in the collective bargaining agreement will prevail.)

Responsible Office
Office of Human Resources

POLICY

Issued: 10/15/2007
Revised: 01/03/2021 (minor revision)

The university recognizes the need to prepare for unexpected catastrophic events such as natural or human made disasters or the outbreak of pandemic illnesses, as well as the need to return the university as quickly as possible to its normal operations should such events occur. Our preparation, response, and recovery will be informed by local, state, and federal agencies and experts. To prepare and support leaders, managers, and employees, this policy provides information related to human resource practices in the event of a University State of Emergency. All university community members should familiarize themselves with their unit’s plans (Business Continuity Plan, Building Emergency Action Plan (BEAP), and/or Department Emergency Operations Plan), as well as the university’s Comprehensive Emergency Management Plan.

Purpose of the Policy
To provide information to the university community about how to prepare for, and procedures to follow during, a University State of Emergency.

Policy Details

I. When This Policy is in Effect
   A. This policy will become active and remain in effect when a University State of Emergency is declared, as defined in this policy.
   B. If a University State of Emergency is not declared, closure of university offices is governed by the Weather or Other Short-Term Closing 6.15 policy.
   C. Only the university president can declare a University State of Emergency. The president will make the decision in consultation with, the provost, vice president for human resources and other senior leaders as appropriate. Units cannot make the decision to declare a University State of Emergency.
   D. This policy works in tandem with the Disaster Leave 6.28 policy.

II. General Provisions
   A. The university will make every effort to communicate broadly and repetitively throughout any University State of Emergency.
   B. Units need to ensure that their business continuity plans are up-to-date and communicated on a regular basis. See Business Continuity Management policy.
   C. Units should be as flexible as possible to enable all faculty, staff, graduate associates, and student employees to work, including facilitating working from home and other remote locations, allowing full-time employees to work part-time, using flexible work schedules, and other appropriate solutions.
   D. Unless directed otherwise, individuals who are able to work should report for work and support the unit or university in whatever capacity is needed. The university can assign any kind of work to faculty, staff, graduate associates, or student employees, regardless of regular duties or position descriptions, in accordance with any applicable collective bargaining agreement.
   E. In the event of a pandemic, to minimize the spread of the disease, employees may be directed not to report to the workplace. If so directed, employees must not report to the workplace.
   F. Employees who are engaged in teaching and research, including temporary employees, may have the highest priority for retention to complete an academic term in progress.
   G. Units need to be reasonable and flexible in responding to employee requests, and employees must make their best effort to comply with this policy.

III. Employee Designations
   A. The university has three employee designations for disaster preparedness during a University State of Emergency: essential employee, alternate employee, and standby employee.
   B. Positions not designated as essential or alternate positions are considered to be standby during a University State of Emergency.

IV. Paid Time Off and Unpaid Leave During A University State of Emergency
   A. Disaster leave may be granted at the discretion of university leadership. See Disaster Leave 6.28 policy.
   B. Faculty and staff may request approval for use of sick time, vacation time, or compensatory time, consistent with the Paid Time Off 6.27 policy and the Scheduling Work and Overtime Compensation 6.10 policy.
   C. When paid time off options have been exhausted, faculty and staff may apply to use unpaid leave, consistent with the Unpaid Leave 6.45 policy or Disaster Leave 6.28 policy.
V. Other Human Resources Issues During a University State of Emergency
   A. Employees may be mandated to work based upon unit and/or university needs, and their work schedules or assignments may change during a University State of Emergency.
   B. Employees, including bargaining unit staff, may be required to work outside of classification as deemed necessary by the unit or the university. This includes employees with the necessary skills that are needed to work outside their units.
   C. Employees funded by external grants must be paid according to the specific requirements and limitations of the grant. Units and principal investigators are encouraged to work with funding agencies to determine how grant-funded employees will be paid in advance of any University State of Emergency.
   D. Graduate associates and student employees should make reasonable efforts to contact their units during a University State of Emergency and are to report for work as needed.
   E. The university reserves the right to award compensatory time off in lieu of overtime to eligible staff during a University State of Emergency.
   F. Probationary periods are extended for the duration of the University State of Emergency or up to 60 work days, whichever is less.
   G. The Office of Human Resources may implement expedited recruitment and selection processes, or suspend recruitment and selection processes, during a University State of Emergency as needed.

PROCEDURE
Issued: 10/15/2007
Revised: 01/03/2021 (minor revision)

I. Declaring a University State of Emergency
   A. The President is responsible for declaring a University State of Emergency.

II. Communication and Support
   A. Communication during a University State of Emergency will be challenging.
   B. The President and Provost will set priorities and communicate changes to university standard processes and procedures.
   C. The Office of Human Resources will assist in communicating changes to university standard processes and procedures.
   D. Units will establish emergency plans and communicate their business continuity plans as appropriate.

III. Essential, Alternate or Standby Employees
   A. Designations of essential and alternate positions must be made by director or chair level appointments or their designees. The designation must be included in the position description.
   B. Employees will receive an annual notification, generated by Workday, of whether they have been designated as essential, alternate, or standby.
   C. Designations can be changed at any time depending on operational necessity.
   D. Unless it is an operational necessity, intermittent and student employee positions may not be designated as essential or alternate. Depending upon the type of emergency, position designations may change during the emergency. Any position may be designated as essential at any point during a University State of Emergency, even if not designated essential or alternate to an essential position prior to the University State of Emergency.
   E. Individuals in positions not designated as essential may expect their unit to attempt to contact them, but should also attempt to contact their unit during a University State of Emergency, according to the unit’s usual call-in procedures.
   F. Essential positions
Disaster Preparedness and University State of Emergency, 6.17

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, graduate associates, and student employees, excluding Health System employees

1. Essential employees are expected to report for work during a University State of Emergency unless specifically directed by their unit not to report or if directed by civil emergency or medical authorities not to report for health and safety reasons.

2. Employees may be designated as essential on a situational basis, e.g., in the event of a snow emergency only or in the event of a public health crisis. Depending on the nature of their work, essential employees may be required to report to work on campus or may be allowed to work from home.

G. Alternate positions

1. Employees in positions designated as alternate positions whose designations are changed to essential during a University State of Emergency must report for work upon notification of their changed designation.

2. Alternate employees must contact their unit for instructions during a University State of Emergency.

H. Standby positions

1. Standby employees should not report to campus during a University State of Emergency.

2. Faculty and staff who can work from home or another location may do so only with prior approval from the unit or as directed by the university in accordance with the Disaster Leave 6.28 policy.

IV. Working Outside of Classification and Home Unit

A. When an employee is required to work outside of their classification or home unit, the university will notify these employees that they are designated as essential and when and where they must report for work.

B. The unit for which the work is performed is responsible for funding and assuring compensation for this work.

C. Unless other arrangements are approved by the Office of Human Resources, compensation for employees will be at their regular base pay for their original appointment.

V. Compensation

A. Employees must submit time off and/or leave or timekeeping records as directed by the unit.

B. Employees and units must follow the directions in the table below.

C. At their discretion, university leadership may determine different compensation levels given the specific circumstances of the University State of Emergency.

D. Individuals who refuse a work assignment will not receive compensation unless the individual demonstrates a substantial hardship as reason for the refusal.

VI. Graduate Associates and Student Employees
   A. Student employees are ineligible for paid time off and will only be paid for hours they have been required to work.
   B. Graduate associates may request approval for paid time off or unpaid leave consistent with Graduate School leave guidelines.

VII. Unit Responsibilities
   A. Determine essential, alternate, and standby designations. Ensure position descriptions reflect designations. Unless it is an operational necessity, do not designate student employees as essential or alternate.
   B. Refer to the unit’s business continuity plan and communicate the plan to employees. See the Business Continuity Management policy.
   C. Communicate work expectations to faculty, staff, graduate associates, and student employees regularly and repetitively.
   D. Ensure that employees are trained and well informed regarding emergency procedures.
   E. Provide timekeeping instructions to employees.
   F. Provide workforce with ongoing status updates regarding the emergency and the status of the unit.
   G. Facilitate unit support networks to the extent possible and as appropriate (e.g., care for property, family or pets; sharing rides; sharing jobs; etc.).
   H. Maintain confidentiality of emergency contact information to the extent allowed by law.

VIII. Faculty and/or Staff, Graduate Associates and Student Employee Responsibilities
   A. Ensure contact information is current.
   B. For the duration of the disaster or University State of Emergency, contact unit to determine whether to report to work, and report to work when able and appropriate.
   C. Discuss with your unit whether alternative work arrangements are available, such as working from home or another location in case of a University State of Emergency.
   D. Seek approval from your unit as to meaningful work you can perform during a University State of Emergency.
